Regulation 14 provides for the investigation of the complaint and the response to the claimant. Regulation 15 makes provision for electronic communications.

Each responsible body is required to ensure that its complaints arrangements are made available to the public (regulation 16), to record certain matters about complaints for monitoring purposes (regulation 17) and to prepare and make available an annual report (regulation 18).

Regulations 19 to 21 make transitional provision for complaints made before 1st April 2009 under the Local Authority Social Services Complaints (England) Regulations 2006, or the National Health Service (Complaints) Regulations 2004, which are revoked by regulation 22.
