

Five year housing land supply

Annual assessment for the period commencing 1 April 2020

1. Introduction

- 1.1. This report provides information on the Council's assessment of compliance with paragraph 73 of the National Planning Policy Framework (NPPF)¹ and accompanying Planning Practice Guidance² by identifying and updating annually a supply of specific deliverable sites sufficient to provide five years' worth of housing (and appropriate buffer) against its housing requirement set out in the London Plan.
- 1.2. Bexley's housing requirement within the current London Plan (2016) has been set at 446 units per year and includes both conventional and non-conventional housing (non-self-contained accommodation and vacant properties returning to use) and a small sites 'windfall' allowance of 109 units per year.
- 1.3. On 9 December 2019, following on from the examination in public of his draft new London Plan, the Mayor submitted to the Secretary of State his 'Intend to Publish' version of the London Plan³ (the 'new Plan'). If the new Plan is published in its final form as proposed in this version, then the housing requirement for Bexley will be 685 units per year.
- 1.4. It is expected that the new Plan will be in place before 1 April 2020 and as such, the housing requirement from the new Plan will be used for Bexley's five year housing land supply annual assessment.
- 1.5. The new housing requirement includes within it a small sites windfall allowance of 305 units per year. Paragraph 4.1.8 of the new Plan supports boroughs in using windfall assumptions in their five year housing trajectories based on the small sites allowance.
- 1.6. The housing requirement is monitored in net terms and includes conventional and non-conventional housing. Non-self-contained accommodation for older people (C2 use class), for example, is included in meeting housing targets on a basis of a 1:1 ratio, with each bedroom being counted as a single home.

- 1.7. Maintaining supply is linked to delivery and this is assessed as part of the Bexley Monitoring Report⁴ review process. Since the beginning of the Local Plan period (2012/13 monitoring year) and up through the current monitoring year (2018/19), an average of 506 net new homes have been delivered in the borough.
- 1.8. Delivery of housing is also monitored through the Housing Delivery Test⁵, published annually by the Ministry for Housing, Communities and Local Government. This assessment calculates the number of net homes delivered over a rolling three year period.

2. Summary

Five year housing supply summary	area (hectares)	net new dwellings
Sites with planning permission	23.123	1,431
Sites under construction	12.848	1,644
London Plan annual small sites windfall x 3 years	10.662	915
Five year total housing land supply	46.633	3,990
Bexley's annual London Plan housing requirement x 5 years		3,425
Housing requirement with additional 5% buffer (NPPF paragraph 73)		3,596
Total number of years' supply		5.55

- 2.1. Three thousand nine hundred and ninety (3,990) net new housing units can be provided in the borough via specific, deliverable sites and a windfall allowance for unspecified small sites in the five year period commencing 01 April 2020. Bexley's new London Plan housing requirement is 3,425 units over the same period.
- 2.2. To ensure that there is a realistic prospect of achieving the planned level of housing supply, paragraph 73 of the NPPF requires the addition of a buffer of 5%, 10% or 20% applied to the requirement in the first five years (including any shortfall), bringing forward additional sites from later in the plan period.
- 2.3. The Council applies the 5% buffer, which is the appropriate buffer for Bexley using the criteria set out in paragraph 73 of the NPPF. In quantitative terms, this means that the five year housing requirement of 3,425 should have enough sites with the potential to deliver 3,596 new homes. This uplift has been met, with 3,990 net new homes equating to 5.55 years' housing land supply. The methodology is set out in Section 3 with detailed information on sites in the Appendix.

- 2.4. Bexley has a recently adopted Growth Strategy⁶ (December 2017), an ambitious propositional document for the borough. Provided that key transport projects and other required infrastructure are delivered, major redevelopment should result over the next 30 years to 2050. Given the timescales for delivery of infrastructure, much of the growth is anticipated to be developed in the second half of the time period.
- 2.5. Subject to the appropriate infrastructure investment, this will have a positive effect on future housing land supply annual assessments, reflecting the ambitious housing target for Bexley set out in the new London Plan.
- 2.6. Bexley's new Local Plan, currently in preparation, will provide the detailed approach to the Growth Strategy's vision and objectives, with an emphasis on the London Plan Opportunity Areas within the borough along with intensification of town centres and other accessible locations around the borough. A consultation on the preferred approaches to strategic, spatial and development management policies was carried out early in 2019. The Bexley Local Development Scheme sets out the next steps and timetable for the new Local Plan⁷.

3. Methodology

- 3.1. In order to demonstrate five years' worth of deliverable housing sites, robust, up to date evidence needs to be available to support the preparation of strategic policies and planning decisions.
- 3.2. Government's Planning Practice Guidance on housing supply and delivery was revised in July 2019. This five year housing land supply assessment follows the revised guidance.

What constitutes a 'deliverable' housing site in the context of plan-making and decision-taking?

- 3.3. The definition of a deliverable site is set out in Annex 2 of the NPPF⁸. As well as sites that are considered to be deliverable in principle, unless there is clear evidence that homes will not be delivered within five years, this definition also sets out the sites that would require further evidence to be considered deliverable, namely those that:
 - have outline planning permission for major development;
 - are allocated in a development plan;
 - have a grant of permission in principle; or
 - are identified on a brownfield register.
- 3.4. Evidence to demonstrate deliverability, may include, for example, assessing larger scale sites with outline or hybrid permission to ascertain how much progress has been made towards approving reserved matters, or whether these link to a planning performance agreement that sets out the timescale for approval of reserved matters applications and discharge of conditions.

- 3.5. In decision-taking, if an authority cannot demonstrate a five year housing land supply, including any appropriate buffer, the presumption in favour of sustainable development will apply, as set out in paragraph 11d of the NPPF.

Calculating the five year housing land supply

- 3.6. Care has been taken to only include sites that are likely to have housing development completed within the five year period set out for this assessment. Evidence has been gathered from the following sources:
- (a) The published (2017) regional Strategic Housing Land Availability Assessment (SHLAA)⁹, conducted by the Greater London Authority (the GLA), with sites assessed in partnership with the London boroughs;
 - (b) Interrogation of the development planning aspect of the UNIFORM property database and the London Development Database in respect of major planning applications where decisions are pending, in order to bring forward SHLAA sites from later phases;
 - (c) Interrogation of the development planning aspect of the London Development Database in respect of units that have extant planning permission; and,
 - (d) Interrogation of the development planning aspect of the London Development Database in respect of units that are under construction.

The London strategic housing land availability assessment (SHLAA)

- 3.7. In respect of the London-wide SHLAA (2017), the borough has an agreed list of SHLAA sites that have the potential to come forward for housing development, broken into four phases of development. This assessment provides a housing land supply on sites of 0.25 hectares and larger, with potential development projected to be completed between 2019 to 2041.
- 3.8. SHLAA sites are reviewed annually by the Council and may be reallocated to different phases to reflect updated circumstances, including removal from the supply once developed. Therefore, SHLAA sites in Bexley's pipeline that are likely to be developed, or phases developed, within the five year supply period will be included where the site:
- (a) has full planning permission; or
 - (b) has outline planning permission, and an assessment has been undertaken as to the likelihood that the development will be built-out within the five year period.
- 3.9. SHLAA sites may be included in the five year housing supply period where the site:

⁹ https://www.london.gov.uk/sites/default/files/2017_london_strategic_housing_land_availability_assessment_0.pdf

- (a) has a full planning application currently being considered;
- (b) has been granted planning approval, but where the development does not yet have a section 106 (s106) agreement in place (if required); or
- (c) has a development commitment in the immediate future by the Council (through a planning brief) and landowner (through pre-application discussions).

- 3.10. Sites will only be included from the list at Paragraph 3.9 if the development, or phases of the development, have been assessed as being deliverable within the five year period.
- 3.11. For this five year housing supply assessment, SHLAA sites have only been brought forward by the methods set out in the first list at Paragraph 3.8. Ten SHLAA sites are included, all with extant planning permission and many under construction. Details are provided in the Appendix. Outline consents are assessed in the following section.

Assessment of housing development sites that have planning permission

- 3.12. Development with extant planning approval makes up 1,431 units of the supply and is set out in table A.3 of the Appendix. The anticipated delivery of sites with planning permissions has been divided equally over the five year supply period. The data is based on information from the London Development Database up to 30 September 2019.
- 3.13. The figures are net only and exclude rebuilds. Development with no additional housing provided is included in the list if it contributes to the monitoring of self-build and custom housebuilding delivery. Conversions and change of use are included where additional (net) units are provided. Development that creates an overall loss of housing is also included.
- 3.14. Five of the approved developments are on four SHLAA sites. These have been checked to ensure there is no double counting of sites that are currently under construction or where some development is already complete. Several of these large sites have phased development and the same SHLAA site may be identified in more than one list.
- 3.15. A SHLAA site with outline planning permission (“Binsey Walk”) is an estate regeneration scheme within the Mayor of London’s ‘Housing Zone’ funding programme. The Council works in close partnership with both the Greater London Authority and the developer, Peabody, and two of the four Housing Zone schemes are programmed to be built out within the five year supply period. One of these two schemes is in the section on housing under construction (“Southmere Village”).
- 3.16. A further site with hybrid planning permission is included. This site, the former Erith Quarry, has long been identified as a site allocation in the Council’s Development Plan. Permission was granted in 2015 and it has taken several years to prepare the disused quarry/landfill site for residential development.
- 3.17. The site is large and has been split into two SHLAA sites. One is for the first phase of development that has full planning permission. The second site comprises the larger part of the former quarry and will be built out in three more phases, two of which have planning consent for reserved matters.

The Council works closely with the developer of this site and anticipates that now construction is underway, completion within the five year supply period is achievable.

- 3.18. There are two developments with permission in principle, and these have been further assessed and it has been determined that they are likely to be delivered within the five year supply period.
- 3.19. All sites on the brownfield land register are large sites (0.25 hectares and greater) with planning permission, and as such have already been assessed.

Assessment of housing development sites that are under construction

- 3.20. Development that has started makes up 1,893 units of the supply and is set out in table A.4 of the Appendix. The data is based on information from the London Development Database and Building Control monitoring records to the end of September 2019, and the up to date knowledge of the Planning Department's Monitoring Officer regarding developments of 10 or more net housing units.
- 3.21. The figures are net only and exclude rebuilds. Development with no additional housing provided are included in the list if they contribute to the monitoring of self-build and custom housebuilding delivery. Conversions and change of use are included that provide additional (net) units. Development that creates an overall loss of housing is also included.
- 3.22. Deducted from this figure are 249 housing units, which it is anticipated will be completed prior to 1 April 2020, resulting from a number of small sites completions and from discussions with Council officers on the likelihood of larger developments (identified in table A.3) currently under construction being completed by the end of March 2020.
- 3.23. The remaining 1,644 units under construction contribute to the five year housing supply total and have been divided equally over the five year reporting period. Sites have only been included where:
- (d) the developer has contacted the Council and submitted a building regulations application or notice in respect of the works and has subsequently commenced development; or
 - (e) they do not have an initial building control number but may have used an approved inspector – these sites are captured by liaising with case officers when the site has been seen under construction but has no building control number.
- 3.24. Seven of the sites currently under construction are SHLAA sites. These have been checked to ensure there is no double counting of sites for approved developments that have not started or where units have already been completed. Some developments are phased, and therefore the same SHLAA site may be identified in more than one list.

Bexley's small sites (windfall) allowance

- 3.25. The NPPF notes the contribution that small sites can make to the supply of housing; that local planning authorities should support the development of windfall sites through their policies and decisions; and that an allowance for windfall can be included as part of anticipated supply if there is compelling evidence that such sites provide a reliable source of supply.

- 3.26. Housing targets set out in the Mayor of London's new Plan include an allowance for small sites less than 0.25 hectares in area. These were modelled in the London-wide SHLAA (2017) and tested at the examination in public. The allowance for including windfall sites (that are not specifically identified) in boroughs' five year housing supply is considered appropriate given the policy framework set out in the London Plan (see para 4.1.8 of the new Plan). For Bexley, the new London Plan housing requirement for a small sites (windfall) allowance is 305 units per year.
- 3.27. Three years' worth of this windfall allowance has been added to the end of the five year supply period, reflecting the fact that small sites already with planning permission and under construction will come forward earlier in the five year supply period. An estimated amount of land has been added to the supply, based on the average development density.

4. Conclusion

- 4.1. The Council considers that it is on course to meet its new London Plan housing requirement of 3,425 units during the five-year period from 01 April 2020 to 31 March 2025. Sites identified within the 2017 Strategic Land Availability Assessment (SHLAA) carried out at regional level by the Greater London Authority, in conjunction with sites that are currently under construction or have planning permission, have been assessed using the methodology set out in Section 3.
- 4.2. The results indicate that 3,990 net new homes are likely to be developed via specific sites and a windfall allowance for unspecified small sites in the five years commencing 01 April 2020. The Appendix, which follows this assessment, identifies specific sites within the borough. Tables A.1 and A.2 provide a summary position and the headline figure for the 15 year housing trajectory (further details in the Local plan monitoring report¹⁰). Tables A.3 and A.4 provide detail on sites.
- 4.3. Paragraph 73 of the NPPF requires local planning authorities to identify in their five year housing supply an appropriate buffer (depending on local circumstances) in addition to their housing requirement, to provide a realistic prospect of achieving the planning supply and to ensure choice and competition in the market for land. A 20% buffer should be provided where there has been significant under delivery of housing over the previous three years, measured against the Housing Delivery Test. Bexley has not triggered this higher buffer of additional supply. A 5% buffer is currently the most appropriate for Bexley, bringing the total five year housing requirement to 3,596. This figure is met by the five year housing supply of 3,990 net new units.
- 4.4. This assessment demonstrates that the Council has identified a supply of specific deliverable sites sufficient to provide a minimum of five years' worth of housing against its housing requirement, with the appropriate buffer, as set out in paragraph 73 of the NPPF.
