Introductions

Welcome to DECISIONS the Bexley Post-16 Directory

Bexley is proud to offer a wide range of post-16 opportunities provided by our schools, academies, colleges and training providers. I would encourage students and parents to explore all the possibilities available. Participating in education or training beyond the age of 16 offers young people an opportunity to gain qualifications and experience that can significantly increase their prospects for future employment and earnings. In these changing times, education will be more important than ever in helping young people to achieve their future goals.

The Government raised the participation age, requiring all young people to stay in some form of learning or training until their 18th birthday. This could mean undertaking a Traineeship, an Apprenticeship or studying at a College, School Sixth Form, or Training Provider. These changes have opened up a lot of new opportunities for young people and will help ensure that they gain the right skills and experience for their future.

We wish you every success in your studies this year and sincerely hope that you will find a pathway that will enable you to continue your education or training in Bexley, building on your achievements so far.

Good Luck!

Jackie Belton
Chief Executive
London Borough of Bexley

Information on Raising the Participation Age (RPA)

What is 'Raising the Participation Age'(RPA)?

RPA is a duty placed on all young people by the Education and Skills Act (2008) to participate in education or training until their 18th birthday. Supported by parents / carers and schools, the government expects you to make your own decisions about how you wish to participate.

Does this mean staying at school until I am 18?

Once you complete your GCSEs and secondary education, there are a number of options available for you to choose from:

- ▶ Continue in full time education such as school, college or home based learning
- ▶ Start a work based learning programme such as an apprenticeship
- ▶ Start full time work alongside part time learning which leads to an accredited qualification
- ▶ If you have your own business and are self employed, you can combine this with part time learning which leads to an accredited qualification.

Applying for post-16 placements with an EHCP

If a young person has an Education, Health and Care Plan (EHCP), that is continuing post 16, they will have an SEN Case Officer within Bexley Local Authority. When applying for a place at a Post-16, college or other training site with an EHCP, you must contact your SEN Case Officer at the earliest possible time to tell them where you would like to apply. You should be discussing the options with your current setting as soon as possible and informing Bexley SEN department, and also making contact with the education provider you wish to apply to. Early contact with SEN will ensure the correct paperwork is sent across to the education or training provider for them to determine whether they can offer an appropriate placement and what support may be required. It is important to begin this process early, as places for young people with EHCPs should be allocated by February 28th prior to commencing their new course of study in the following September. If you are unsure who your SEN Case Officer is, please contact the SENCO at your current setting, or refer to the Bexley Local Offer website, where contact details are provided.

Choosing the right pathway for you

Your options

There are three main learning and career pathways to choose from following GCSEs. Making the right decision requires careful consideration of interests, preferred learning method and future aspirations. It may also mean studying at a different institution.

Regardless of learning choice, it is a requirement for all young people who have not achieved a grade 4 or higher in English and/or maths at GCSE to continue their study to achieve this.

How to choose?

You may already have an idea about your future journey, such as applying for higher education or a particular career. Some careers and university courses require you to have qualifications in specific subjects. Speak to your careers adviser at school. Based on your talents and needs, they can advise on the best decision for you.

If you are unsure, it is usually best to go with subjects you are likely to do well at and enjoy. You will still need to check what you can do with these subjects and try to keep your options open.

The following checklist may be useful for you to consider when thinking about which pathway is right for you:

- ▶ How does the course build on your strengths and interests?
- ▶ What will you be doing on the course and what will the workload be like?
- ▶ Where will the course lead you to and how do you think the qualification will bring you closer to your career goals?
- ▶ What will you need to do in order to achieve a good result?
- ▶ Is there someone you know who you can talk to about this option?
- ▶ Are there any other similar opportunities you could consider?

Your choices

When you are making your subject and qualification choices there are certain questions that you need to ask:

1) What is it?

- ▶ What is the qualification?
(e.g. A Level, GCSE, BTEC Subsidiary Diploma)
- ▶ What is the subject?

2) Where will I learn?

- ▶ In a classroom, a lab, in the workplace etc...?
- ▶ At a school sixth form, at a sixth form college, at a Further Education college, with a work-based training provider?

3) How will I learn / be assessed?

- ▶ Will there be lots of practical sessions, hands-on work, essays etc.?
- ▶ Will my learning be assessed through exams, coursework, portfolios, on the job etc...?
- ▶ What will the subject actually cover / what is the content?

4) Why should I study for this qualification?

- ▶ Will it help me do the things I want to do in the future?
- ▶ What is the progression from this qualification (e.g. is there something similar available at the next level)?
- ▶ Is it something I enjoy and I'm good at?
- ▶ Am I prepared to put in the hard work to get a good grade?
- ▶ Does it fit with my other choices and complement them?
- ▶ Will this course help me develop skills for the future?

5) Anything else?

- ▶ Am I eligible for this course (e.g. do I have the right grades / previous types of qualifications to get in)?
- ▶ Will this course provide opportunities for me to get work experience, etc.?
- ▶ Does this course make the most of the skills that I am good at?
- ▶ Does this course link to hobbies that I am interested in?

What's your next move?

Where can you study or train?

At the end of year 11 you have a number of choices of where to study. It is worth doing some research into the ones you are interested in; you can find information on the internet, as most education and training providers have a website. You can also attend open days or taster days to see what it's really like and whether you think it's right for you.

School sixth forms

School sixth forms primarily teach A levels but some may offer vocational courses such as BTECs at level 3. They also offer resits in GCSE Maths and English if you did not get a grade 4 or higher the first time round.

School sixth forms are smaller than most sixth form colleges and further education colleges.

You don't usually have to wear school uniform, but smart clothing may be required and you will need to attend every day.

Sixth form colleges

Sixth form colleges are for 16 to 19 year olds. They have on average 1,200 students studying entry level up to A levels and BTEC nationals.

They offer a wide range of courses including applied courses.

Further education colleges (FE colleges)

FE colleges offer a broad range of courses at all different levels including entry level, ESOL, GCSEs, A levels, BTECs, traineeships, apprenticeships and vocational and occupational courses.

There is no upper age limit and there can be 1,000s of students on site. They may also have more than one site.

Training providers

If you did not gain any qualifications in year 11 you may need to take some short courses or combine education with employment or work experience.

There are a number of training providers in and around the borough that can offer courses in a wide range of subjects from hairdressing to football association coaching badges.

Apprenticeships

Apprenticeships give you the opportunity to work, learn and earn all at the same time.

You will work for an employer alongside other experienced staff. You will be earning a salary, gaining valuable work experience and employability skills, and you will gain a qualification.

Apprenticeships are available in over 1,500 roles covering more than 170 industries, from advertising to youth work and environmental engineering and nuclear decommissioning.

Types of apprenticeship

You can apply for different types of apprenticeship based on your current skills and qualifications

- ▶ Intermediate level (level 2)
- ▶ Advanced level (level 3)
- ▶ Higher level (level 4 or above)

Higher and degree apprenticeships mean more specialised and highly skilled apprenticeships are being offered each year.

When can I start an apprenticeship?

If you live in England and are aged 16 or over, you can apply to be an apprentice. You can start an apprenticeship on the first day after the last Friday in June (official school leaving date in England) as long as you are 16 or become 16 before 1 September of that year. You'll need to be living in England and not in full-time education.

How much will I earn?

The minimum wage for apprentices aged 16 to 18 is £3.90 per hour. The average gross weekly wage for an apprentice is £200.00 (dependent on sector, region and level).

Training and qualifications

During your apprenticeship you will also receive training to gain a nationally recognised qualification in your chosen area. Your employer will be working with your training provider to ensure the programme is structured to support you to gain the skills you need for the job.

How do I find and apply for an apprenticeship?

Applying is easy with find an apprenticeship, the online vacancy site provided by the National Apprenticeship Service. You need to create an account, log all of your information and set preferences before applying, usually by completing an online application form and answering a few questions set by the employer. This resource is available at www.gov.uk/apply-apprenticeship.

If you are in year 11 and are interested in applying for an apprenticeship you can talk to your school's careers adviser or a Prospects Careers Adviser at BYA. They can advise you on what you need to do to ensure you are prepared and have the right skills to apply. They also receive weekly information on apprenticeship opportunities that might be suitable for you.

What comes next?

Your choices after you have completed your chosen pathway at 18

University

Some professions (e.g. architecture, teaching or medicine) require a degree. Many more employers now expect their staff to have high levels of education.

However going to university gives you the chance to study a subject you are passionate about. In higher education you can develop valuable skills to give you a wider range of career opportunities. University can offer an environment rich in social and cultural experiences - a chance to become more independent, broaden your horizons and try out new interests.

For a few people, choosing a subject to study is simple - you will either be clear about your career path and need a specific degree to follow it or you have always had a passion for a particular subject. However, for most there is a bewildering variety of courses, many of which involve subjects that are not taught in schools or colleges. So you need to do your research to narrow your choices down.

Higher and Degree Apprenticeships

A higher apprenticeship leads to a higher education level qualification (at level 4, 5, 6 or 7). Qualifications on offer include NVQ level 4, HNDs and foundation degrees.

Degree apprenticeships offer a full bachelor's or master's degree.

Apprenticeships last a minimum of one year, with higher or degree level apprenticeships taking up to six years to complete.

Degree apprenticeships are increasing, offering various roles such as accounting, advertising and aerospace engineering, with new apprenticeships being developed all the time.

You can even become a qualified solicitor. Not all jobs are represented yet, but more highly skilled apprenticeships are popping up each year.

About us

Welcome to the exciting opportunities that our Sixth Form provides. Bexley Grammar School is a co-educational selective Academy of approximately 1500 students, including 500 in the Sixth Form.

We are currently the only school in Bexley to offer the International Baccalaureate (IB) to all Sixth Form students. We estimate that students who are likely to be successful in the IB need to be in the top 30% of students academically. We have high expectations of students and in return offer the highest quality education on offer. The International Baccalaureate is a unified programme leading to a Diploma which BGS has been delivering for well over a decade. Our average current IB results are equivalent in UCAS points to 4 A grades at A level.

At the heart of the IB programme is an endeavour to nurture independent, creative learners with a lively curiosity about the world in which they live. Many British Universities express a preference for IB students because of the depth and breadth of their study and the life skills they bring with them to university life. Our destinations success is enviable (see our website) with, for example, 15 Oxbridge offers this year. And of course the IB Diploma is recognised internationally.

We thank you for your interest in BGS and welcome your application to join our thriving Sixth Form.

What is it like to study here?

"Upon joining Bexley Grammar, one can't help but feel like part of an evergrowing and culturally diverse family of students and teachers. The abundance of extra curricular activities allows you to hone your skills, not only enhancing your learning but enjoying yourself while you're at it. The challenging yet rewarding IB provides the ability to develop and improve countless useful techniques which will undoubtedly help later in life, providing me with confidence and certainty whether applying to universities or apprenticeships."

About us

Harris Academy Falconwood has a mixed Sixth Form offering a wide range of courses in both academic and vocational qualifications. We work on a 4 day timetable where students study 3 qualifications from a range of A level and Vocational qualifications. A level students do not sit AS level exams, they sit two full mocks in year 12 and two more in Year 13 before their A level exams in June of their final year.

As a holder of the Investor in Careers award, students will also get first class support in preparation for the destination beyond sixth form, whether that be university, apprenticeships or employment. Students will also have enrichment on Monday and Friday afternoons where a range of career enhancing opportunities will be available to them. Our goal at Harris Academy Falconwood is for students to leave as young adults with lots of opportunities open to them because of their own academic success.

What is it like to study here?

There is a big focus on independent learning and students will not only be taught content within their lessons, but will be given sufficient subject specific skills to prepare them for higher education or the world of work. Staff teaching sixth form are supportive to students and are always developing themselves through regular training and cross site moderation that is carried with each subject across the federation. We are not a huge sixth form and have a very friendly, inclusive environment that sees us take on a high number of students from other schools and academies, who have gone to be very successful upon leaving Harris Academy Falconwood.

Financial support

As a 16 to 19 year old student you may be able to get help with money. There are different types of funding you may be able to claim.

16 to 19 bursary fund

There are two types of 16 to 19 bursary:

Vulnerable student bursary

You could get a bursary worth up to £1,200, depending on your circumstances.

This group includes:

- ▶ People in care
- ▶ Care leavers
- ▶ People claiming income support
- ▶ Disabled young people who receive Employment Support Allowance and Disability Living Allowance

Discretionary bursary

You could get a discretionary bursary if you need financial help but don't qualify for a vulnerable student bursary. Your education or training provider decides how much you get and what it's used for.

How is your bursary paid?

Your education or training provider will decide how you get your bursary. You might be:

- ▶ Paid in full or in instalments
- ▶ Paid in cash, by cheque or through a bank account
- ▶ Given things like a travel pass, free meals or books instead of money

Some providers also offer one off payments to cover study trips or travel for university interviews. Your provider will set conditions that students should meet to receive a bursary, for example, linked to behaviour or attendance and your bursary can be stopped if you break the rules.

For more information visit www.gov.uk/guidance/16-to-19-bursary-fund-guide-2020-to-2021-academic-year

Benefits

The general rule on benefits is that if you are under 18 you cannot make a claim for any benefits. Your parents / carers will still get any child benefit or other benefits they already receive as long as you are under 19 and in full time education. If you are not engaged and not meeting the RPA requirements benefits may be stopped.

If you are living away from your parents, out of necessity, or have a family to support you may be able to make a claim.

For more information contact Bexley Youth Advice on 020 3045 5555 or visit the Bexleyheath branch of JobCentre Plus.

Care to Learn

You can claim Care to Learn if you are under 20, caring for your own child and doing a publicly funded course or training programme at school or college (fathers are eligible if they are the main carer). An application can be made as soon as you have a confirmed offer of a course. For more information please go to www.gov.uk/care-to-learn.

Other support

Travel

If you are in full time learning you can apply for a 16+ Zip Oyster card. There is a fee of £20.00 and you will need a colour digital photo and an e-mail address. To apply online and for more information go to <https://tfl.gov.uk/fares-and-payments/travel-for-under-18s/zip-oyster-photocards> or visit your local post office.
